Contribution ID: 217   Type: not specified

Technical debt

Tuesday, 13 September 2022 15:20 (10 minutes)

For various reasons, the Android Common Kernel (ACK) requires functionality that is not suitable for upstream. This talk will explore the reasons why this delta must exist, how it is maintained & managed and the steps taken to ensure that it remains as small as possible.

I agree to abide by the anti-harassment policy

Yes

Primary author: MÄNNICH, Matthias (Google)

Presenter: MÄNNICH, Matthias (Google)

Session Classification: Android MC

Track Classification: LPC Microconference: Android MC