Contribution ID: 181   Type: not specified

MiPi vs ACPI vs Device tree bindings

MiPi Specifications defines standard device properties that endup into ACPI tables. Whoever Device tree bindings evolve in a very different way.

Even-though all the three are defining hardware, there is no consideration of MiPi or ACPI while defining the bindings.

where do we draw a line?

Is there some consolidation that needs to happen?

How can drivers written for ACPI be use able for Device tree based platforms.

Primary author: KANDAGATLA, Srini

Presenter: KANDAGATLA, Srini

Session Classification: Devicetree MC

Track Classification: Devicetree MC