

Easy project names

Peter Hutterer

2 hardest problems in computer science

- cache invalidation
- project naming
- off by one errors

languages to the rescue

There are 6500 spoken languages in the world

(according to the first website I clicked on)

the internets to the rescue!

- google translate
- www.indifferentlanguages.com
- etc.

Home > Words that start with F > fail

How to Say Fail in Different Languages

Categories: General

Saying fail in European Languages

Saying fail in Asian Languages

Saying fail in Middle-Eastern Languages

Saying fail in African Languages

Saying fail in Austronesian Languages

Saying fail in Other Foreign Languages

Please find below many ways to say fail in different languages. This is the translation of the word "fail" to over 80 other languages.

Saying Fail in European Languages

Language	Ways to say fail
Albanian	dështoj [edit]
Basque	huts [edit]
Belarusian	трываць няўдачу [edit]
Bosnian	fail [edit]
Bulgarian	провали [edit]
Catalan	fallar [edit]
Croatian	iznevjeriti [edit]
Czech	selhat [edit]
Danish	svigte [edit]
Dutch	mislukken [edit]
Estonian	ei [edit]
Finnish	epäonnistua [edit]
French	échouer [edit]
Galician	falla [edit]
German	fehlschlagen [edit]
Greek	αποτυγχάνω (apotyncháno) [edit]
Hungarian	nem sikerül [edit]

but always double-check

You probably don't want to copy Mitsubishi's Pajero mistake.